Fore!

If I ever have my statue
in the local Hall of Fame,
it must be for my prowess
at the Royal and Ancient Game.

A hole in one, an albatross,
or seven under par:
it's always been my aim in life
to be a golfing star.

So if, for just a moment,
you can set aside your sorrow,
God's given me the honour
in the Tournament tomorrow.

The greens are smooth, the bunkers small,
the rough is hardly there;
the only hazard I know of
is knowing what to wear.

No hook or slice or mangled shots,
- for those there isn't time.

The caddie puts my divots back;
the Pro will say that I'm a legend in the world of golf.

- If proof is needed more,
just come onto the fairway now,
to hear me yell out: "Fore!"
