Whispers of Willow

In the hush of the field, we hear your name,
The echo of laughter, the crack of the game,
Whispers of willow, the ball's sweet song,
We miss you, dear cricket fan now that you're gone.
Through sunlit afternoons, and twilight's embrace,
We'll remember your passion, your undying grace,
With every delivery, each resounding hit,
The love for the game, forever brightly lit.
Though you've left the crease, and walked away,
In our hearts, dear Steve, you'll forever stay,
Whispers of willow, in the breeze we'll find,
A gentle reminder, of love left behind.
